Food-Safe Fumigation for Stored Product Pests

If not detected early, pests that come in with food supplies can damage your ingredients and infest your facility. Our stored product pest inspection, detection, and fumigation program helps keep your food safe and retain its quality.

Inspection & Detection:

Through our regular inspections and monitoring for stored product pests, we apply a proactive, scientific approach to track trends and detect pest presence at the first sign.

Treatment:

Our combination of unmatched fumigation technologies and integrated Food Protect pest management program services minimizes pest risk, protecting the value of your products and ensuring food safety in the face of today's increasing risks.

Documentation:

By regulation, if it's not documented, you didn't do it. Through Ecolab's paper logbook or digital platform, copies of all essential documents are retained and available at a moment's notice for inspectors and auditors alike. Additional trending data is also available for actionable insights and prevention opportunities.
